The WWTFOTP was established in 1992 to develop a summer concert series for the enjoyment of the area residents. The concerts have been an overwhelming success with attendance over 10,000 per summer, including an annual Independence Day celebration with an extended concert and fireworks. The group has added other events, such as an egg hunt in the spring and a tree lighting in December, as well as a fall and spring craft fair each year. The WWTFOTP members help solicit sponsors for the events, as well as reviewing and selecting concert performers. The members also volunteer at the events setting up, handing out programs, etc.
